Analysis of the Company’s Financial Performance and Condition

Rhyolite is an exploration company with claims to the Paxson Gold Property (“Paxson”) located in the State of Alaska. Currently, the Company is not undertaking significant exploration activities at Paxson and related expenses are typically limited to on-going charges for the maintenance of mineral claims. As Paxson is an exploration-stage property, the Company has no operating revenues and, in addition to maintenance costs of its mineral claims, its operating expenses typically comprise costs for management and administrative services as well as transfer agent, listing, filing, legal and audit fees incurred as a publicly-listed company on the TSX Venture Exchange (“TSX-V”). Until the Company acquires new exploration assets or increases its exploration of Paxson, these costs are incurred consistently from quarter to quarter and are not expected to change significantly in the next 12 months.

Three Months Ended December 31, 2018

The Company incurred a net loss of $20,672 for the three months ended December 31, 2018, compared to a $20,836 loss for the three months ended December 31, 2017. During the three months ended December 31, 2018, the Company incurred a $2,495 expense for accounting and legal services compared with a $2,126 expense recovery resulting from a reversal of accruals for audit services recorded in prior periods. Offsetting this expense increase were a $2,679 decrease in exploration expenses and a $2,225 increase in interest income owing to increases in interest rates on the Company's bank account.

Other significant items affecting net loss for the three months ended December 31, 2018 included $12,000 for office administration and facilities provided by a related party and $2,779 for transfer agent, listing and filing fees. Consistent with the Company's negligible operating activities, these charges were comparable with those for the three months ended December 31, 2017.

Six Months Ended December 31, 2018

The Company incurred a net loss of $32,084 for the six months ended December 31, 2018 compared with a net loss of $38,531 for the six months ended December 31, 2017. The decrease in net loss was a result of a $4,564 increase in interest income owing to increases in interest rates earned on the Company's cash deposits as well as a $2,679 decrease in exploration costs for the period. Other expenses for general and administrative purposes were incurred consistently between the two periods and were incurred primarily for office administration, transfer agent fees and TSX-V listing and filing fees.

Financial Position as at December 31, 2018

As at December 31, 2018, the Company had cash of $1,410,540, amounts receivable of $1,704 and liabilities of $8,835. The $1,403,409 in net working capital is sufficient to fund the Company's operations for at least the next 12 months and, in addition to funding routine general and administrative expenses and the maintenance of Paxson mineral claims, may be used to pursue opportunities to enter new businesses or to acquire new assets.

The Company's cash as at December 31, 2018 is $40,693 less than that as at June 30, 2018. The decrease is a result of $52,118 in expenditures for exploration, as well as general and administrative activities for the six-month interim period, partly offset by $11,425 in interest income.

Related Party Transactions

The Company is party to a corporate service agreement with Earlston Management Corp. ("Earlston"), a company a company that provides key management services to the Company. The Company pays Earlston a fee of $4,000 per month and out-of-pocket costs for standard management and office services. Earlston also provides occasional consulting, project management or other support services which are billed separately from the standard rate. An expense for office administration and facilities of $24,000 the six months ended December 31, 2018 (2017 - $24,000) has been reported for services provided by Earlston. Accounts payable and accrued liabilities as at December 31, 2018 includes $4,307 (June 30, 2018 - $4,320) in amounts owing to Earlston.
